Summary

Passion and etittique makes me to learn, adapt, and put all the experience to work. Upon being a student I feel that I am a bit forward in experiencing and analysing the needs and trends in present and changing social world. Working on real time business needs at different positions made my career challenging, and exploring different fields of work has become a hobby. Admiring to do master's from one of the world's best B-Schools in the fields of Operations management and IT can be stated as a reason to choose the different roles as an intern to gain the knowledge of a particular field.

I am an enthusiast in this modern changing world, tending to know and put my all efforts to bring the best output in every field or work that I choose.
